placed in state at the Catholic Cathedral, after which they will be placed in the Mausoleum with the usual royal

funeral honors,
Prince David Laames Kawananakos Kahalepoulli Pilkoi was not only created a prince as a member of the Ka lakaua dynasty, but he was descended from lines or kingly ancestors both of Hawali and Kauai, and was the great Hawali and Kauai, and was the great grandson of Kaumualli, the last king of Kauai. Prince David was born February 19, 1868, at Kaala, at the mouth of Pauoa Valley, Honoluiu, on the old homestead of Kapiolani, queen-wife of King Kalakaun. He was the son of the High Chief David Kahaleouili Piikol and the Princess Kinolke Kekaulike. David Piikol was the son of the Chief Piikol and the High Chiefess Kekahlii, the latter be-High Chiefess Kekshili, the latter be-ing the sister of Kapakea, father of Queen Liliuokalani, thereby making the late Prince David second cousin of the Queen. The Princess Kekan-like was the daughter of the High Chief Kinha and the Princess Kindi Chief Kuhio and the Princess Kinoike, the latter being the daughter of King Kaumualii, last king of Kauai, who relinquished his rights to the throne to Kamehameha the Great. King Kan mualii married the Princess Kapuan mohu, his half-sister, their mother be ing the Queen Kamakahele. Prince David's grandmother, the Princess Ki nicke, was called a "maupic," which means that she was the issue of two high chiefs, thereby giving her the highest rank shown in Havaiian gen

Prince David's great-grandfather, Kuhio, was a son of Lankea, a high chief, who in turn was a descendant of Queen Kalantkauleielaiwi, a queer of Hawaii. On both sides of the house Prince Kawananakoa comes from royal lineage of Kaust and Hawaii.

The Prince was educated under the late Alatan Atkinson and at Punahou College, and later he became a stu-dent at the San Mateo Military School in California. He was afterwards sent to England, where be attended school for two years, traveling much on the continent and being received in many of the royal courts of Europe. His brother, Prince Kuhlo Kalanianaole. the present Delegate to Congress from Hawaii, accompanied him throughout

When King Kalakana was crowned in 1882 (about nine years after his accession to the throne of Hawaib, Prince Kawamanakoa, with his two brothers, Edward and Kuhio, was created a Prince of the Crown of the Kalakana dynasty, so that he would be in line of succession to the throne as Kaiskaua III. The Prince was alreceptions, banquets and levees, and on all formal occasions he received with His Majesty. Who sever the King made calls about foreign warships, Prince David recompenied him.

After the death of Kniakana, the Princes David and Kni, lo resided with the widowed Queen Kapiolani, mainly at her home in Walkiki, which is now the home of Prince Falanianaci

In 1900, when Hawaii became a Teritory, Prince David was the candidate of the Democratic party for Delegate to Congress, running against Colonel Samuel Parker, Republican, and Robert Wilcox, Home Ruler, the latter being elected. Prince David was also Kansas City by the delegates is now an ornament of the Kawananakoa home on Pensacola street.

On January 6, 1902, Prince Kawana-

Princess Kawananakoa have resided at their attractive home in Pensacota

Besides his brother, Prince Kuhlo Kalanianaole, the deceased leaves sur-viving him the Princess Kawananakoa and their three children, Abigail Ka-piolani, aged five years; David Kalakaus, four years, and Lydla Liliuoka-lani, three years.
